List all other university-level PSYC or STAT courses taken anywhere. The removal of one or more prior grades from the gpa computations may be considered in cases where the computed gpa would not otherwise meet the 3.5 threshold and where there is contextual evidence that the course is not a normal indicator of your performance (e.g., a repeated course that did not use grade forgiveness or a very old grade). Although such approvals are rarely granted, students who would otherwise qualify for honors should investigate this option.
