COURSE DESCRIPTION

This course will explore what has come to be known as globalization studies, and in particular, to survey the distinct themes sub-areas that make up the sociology of globalization. These include globalization studies and theories of globalization; the global economy; political globalization; globalization and culture; transnational civil society/transnational social movements; globalization and gender/race/ethnicity; globalization and the environment, transnational migration; global conflicts; local-global linkages; global supernumeraries: the new global inequalities.

CLASSROOM PROTOCOL

Our class time will take a variety of formats, including lectures, large group discussions, small group discussions, and in-class exercises. I encourage you to ask questions during lectures. Because most of our time together will be interactive, your participation will be essential.

In order to make our class discussions and activities successful, you should complete all required readings and homework assignments before each class period, and bring these readings to class with you. To facilitate your respectful, engaged listening and active participation, cell phones, laptops, and other electronic devices must be turned off and put away during class time. If you do not follow this policy you will lose participation points. If you feel you need an exception to this policy, please meet with me individually. Additionally, to facilitate a respectful, safe and engaging classroom, no food or eating is allowed during class.

ASSIGNMENTS

Participation

Our learning in this class will take part largely through discussion, and much of the information will be presented only in class. Thus, your attendance and participation in class is vital to its success, as well as to the quality of your overall performance. You will get participation credit for coming to class. Your participation grade will be based on the frequency and quality of your contributions to large group and small group discussions and completion of in-class activities (see details under “Grading”). Excellent (A-level) participation involves:

- Excellent punctuality
- Respectful, engaged listening during lectures and discussions
- Frequent contributions to large and small group discussions

- Contributions that make specific reference to course materials
- Thoughtful completing of in-class activities

Reading & Quizzes

There will be multiple readings assigned each week and a quiz or other short assignment for each reading. Quizzes (and all other assignments) will be completed within Canvas, and they'll include multiple-choice and short-answer questions. They will be untimed and open book/notes.

Homework Assignments

In addition to the reading quizzes, I will sometimes assign homework assignments that will ask you to reflect on course materials or prepare you for a class activity. Detailed instructions will be posted on Canvas and discussed in class.

Analytical Briefs

There are three written briefs or essays. These essays will be an opportunity to develop an analytic discussion on the particular topics assigned, mentioning the readings for that topic, lectures, videos and discussions. More details are available in Canvas and will be discussed in class.

Late Assignment and Make-up Work Policy

Canvas will automatically drop your lowest score in the assignment categories meaning that you can miss one of each with no penalty.

Major Assignments: I will accept late papers for up to one week after the due date. Late papers will be marked down as one full letter grade. They will also receive the lowest priority in terms of the amount of feedback and turnaround time.

There will be a one-day grace period for all other assignments. Please aim to submit your assignments early or on time whenever possible; this will help you stay on track with your coursework, and it will help me with grading. In those cases where you need a little extra time, you may use the grace period (no need to contact me for permission). If your circumstances warrant further extensions, please get in touch with me as soon as you can to discuss your options.

If you have an ongoing issue that will require multiple absences, it's important that you let me know as soon as possible and stay in touch with me. In order to receive an extension on class assignments, you will need to contact me immediately (before the due date) and submit documentation of the emergency.

What to Do if You're Absent

If you are a student who has frequent absences, this will not be an appropriate course for you: you will need to attend class in order to get participation credit, submit homework, and learn material that is not presented in the course readings. However, I recognize that absences are sometimes unavoidable. If you miss a class, you should:

- Check with a classmate for notes about what you missed.
- Check Canvas to see if anything has been posted.
- Make arrangements to submit any major assignments to me early.

Please note that you will NOT be able to:

- Make up any homework assignments or in-class activities (you may miss one homework assignment with no grade penalty).
- Receive a review of missed materials from me.

If you have an ongoing issue that will require multiple absences, it's important that you let me know as soon as possible and stay in touch with me.

Submitting Papers

Papers must be submitted on Canvas. I do not accept e-mailed papers, and the Sociology office will not accept papers you try to turn in there. Most assignments will be submitted electronically (through Canvas or other online formats); when this is the case, it will be specifically noted on the assignment instructions.

Workload and Requirements

SJSU classes are designed such that in order to be successful, it is expected that students will spend a minimum of forty-five hours for each unit of credit (normally three hours per unit per week), including preparing for class, participating in course activities, completing assignments, and so on. More details about student workload can be found in University Policy S12-3 at <http://www.sjsu.edu/senate/docs/S12-3.pdf>.

GRADING

Your final course evaluation will be based on your performance on the above assignments. These assignments will be weighted as follows:

Participation	10%
Reading Quizzes/Responses	20%
Homework	20%

Final course grades will be assigned based on the following scale; grades below 60% will be considered failing (“F”):

A+ = 98 – 100%	B+ = 88 – 89.9%	C+ = 78 – 79.9%	D+ = 68 – 69.9%
A = 92 – 97.9%	B = 82 – 87.9%	C = 72 – 77.9%	D = 62 – 67.9%
A- = 90 – 91.9%	B- = 80 – 81.9%	C- = 70 – 71.9%	D- = 60 – 61.9%

A Grades

Grades in the A range will be granted only for exceptional work. Exceptional, or A, work refers to exemplary work that goes above and beyond basic requirements, demonstrating critical thinking, clarity, and sophistication in form (e.g., language use, structure, format) as well as substance (e.g., logically developed arguments, use of appropriate examples). This is work that could serve as a model for other students.

B Grades

Grades in the B range are earned with work submitted on time that is of good quality. B work meets all the requirements and involves clear, coherent, carefully edited writing; for oral presentations, it involves executing a clear, informative, and engaging presentation. The work has a clear purpose and appropriate development, but may lack in originality or insightfulness. Written work demonstrates careful editing and a solid grasp on grammar and mechanics.

C Grades

Grades in the C range are earned with work submitted on time that fulfills basic requirements and is of satisfactory quality. This work is competent: the author establishes a purpose and supporting ideas, but argument may be somewhat vague, unclear, or uneven. There may be structural issues and problems with the clarity of prose and incorrect use of grammar.

Grade Checks

In general, you should keep track of your own grade by keeping your returned assignments, noting the scores, and using the course grading breakdown listed above. If you need formal verification of your grade (for paperwork associated with a scholarship, student organization, etc.), you should e-mail me at least 24 hours ahead of time to let me know you’ll be bringing grade check paperwork to class. If you ask me in class with no advance notice, I will not be able to provide a grade estimate for you.
